Two Prominent Citizens of San Fran-

Instantaneous Death Produced by

Other Coast Dispatches-The Broker Levees on the Sacramento River Inspected-The Lone Highwayman Caught.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 20.—[By the Associated Press.] An accident occurred on the British ship Durham, lying in the bay here, this afternoon, which resulted in the death of two well-known citizens. Fire broke out in the hold of the Durham a few days ago while she was lying at Port Costa, and after the ship was flooded she was towed to this city. The rain of the past few days has made it necessary to cover the hatches with tarpaulins, and, consequently, gas accumulated in the hold. This afternoon Capt. James H. Freeman. surveyor for Licyd's; F. R. Cotton of Falk-ner, Bell & Co., and A. J. Gove, grain in-spector for the Produce Exchange, went ner, Bell & Co., and A. J. Gove, grain inspector for the Produce Exchange, went down into the hold of the Durham to ascertain the extent of the damage by the recent fire. A few moments later Gove climbed up the hatchway in an exhausted condition, and reported that his companions were smothering by gas. First Mate Stevens of the Durham was lowered into the hold immediately and succeeded in fastening ropes around Freeman and Cotton, who were found unconscious at the foot of the ladder. Cotton was dead when taken out and Freeman died a short time afterward. A. J. Gove, the survivor says: "There were fully 25 men standing around when we started to enter the hold. The captain of the Durham warned everybody of the danger from gas, but Mr. Cotton and Capt. Freeman said they wished to descend first. I accompanied them. We had no sooner reached the bottom than Capt. Freeman fell forward flat on his face. Mr. Cotton fell the moment after. The atmosphere was striling. Gas tumes filled my throat and lungs, and I found myself scarcely able to breathe. I managed to reach the ladder and regained the deck, but how I did so I don't know. I can only account for escape by the fact that where I was standing the fumes were not so heavy and suffocating. Capt. Freeman and Mr. Cotton had gone on ahead of me. They were stricken down instantly, as if shot. It was horrible. No man could have lived in that fearful atmosphere for three minutes."

man could have lived in that fearful atmosphere for three minutes."

Capt. Freeman came to this coast in the sixties, in the employ of the Facific Mail Company. He was master of several ships during succeeding years. Later he gave up the sea, and was Government Inspector here for 15 years. He was relired by the last administration, when he hecame a saisrised agent of Lloyds, and was fulfilling his duties under this agency at the lims of his death. He have a widow, but

BROKEN LEVEES.

Vhat an Inspection of the Sacra-SACRAMENTO, Dec. 20.—(By the Associated Press.) Gov. Waterman, Col. Mendell, division engineer in the United States service, and Maj. Hener of the United States corps in charge of the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers, accompanied by a number of other engineers, visited the breaks in the Sacramento River today in the steamer Varuna for the purpose of making an in-spection of the channel, and ascertain the spection of the damage done to navigation by the recent overflow. Soundings were made in midstream as the boat proceeded and it was found that there are now for fathoms of water, but the river is 16 fee above low water mark. A great quantity. in width. Denow the breach the bar has washed out to a considerable extent.

A trip was made through the break in a small boat, and soundings taken. In line with the two ends of the broken leves the death is 31 feathers abouting a previous of

with the two ends of the broken leves the depth is 2½ fathoms, showing an erosion of about 10 teet for a distance of 300 feet westward. Maj, Hener said he did not believe serious consequences would follow the Paine break, and that it would not be the best policy to begin repairing the break until the water recedes.

Gov. Waterman today received dispatches from Senator Stanford, Congressmen Clunie and Begzes, stating that both houses of Congress had passed a joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of War to immediately proceed to use the unexpended, appropriation for the Sacramento River.

The bill provides that the company shall have the power to build railroads and steamships, occupy and operate wharves, canals, shipyards, docks, basins, elevators, transfers, lighters, steam tugs, mills, furnaces, and own and operate mines. It shall also have the right to acquire and hold stocks and bonds of any company chartered by any of the republics of South America, etc. The capital stock of the company will be not less than $1,000,000 nor more than $100,000,000. The principal office is located at Richmond. This is understood to be a great Pan-American enterprise.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 20,-This morning after two weeks' trial, the case of the Government against William Means and John R. de Camp of the Metropolitan National Bank concluded. The offense charged was making false returns of the condition of the bank to the Comptroller of Currency with intent to deceive officers of the bank. The jury was out half an hour, and returned a verdict of not guilty.

prominent capitalists have had a gang of laborers and carpenters at work on the base-ball grounds, on the east banks of the Los Angeles River, between the main part of the city and Boyle Heights. The entrances to the grounds are on First street, along which cable cars pass every five minutes. The grounds are less than 10 minutes' ride from the heart of the city, and are so located that no one can complain of them as an undesirable feature in the neighborhood. They are surrounded by a high board fence and are perfectly level. The site was evidently selected by some one who knows what is needed for base-bail. Notwithstanding the fact that the heaviest rain of the season had bardly ceased falling and mud holds high carnival all over the country, the grounds were comparatively dry. The soil is of sandy loam and as soon as it has been tramped a little more, the hardest rains will not prevent a game a couple of hours after the last shower has fallen. The grand-stand is well arranged and will comfortably accommodate between 7000 and 10,000 people. Everything about the place shows that the projectors have made up their minds to make the national rame a success in this city, and there is no doubt but that they will be successful, for this is the first time in her history that Los Angeles Club. Last night about 9 o'clock Grant started out to hunt up Officer Lehart, who arrested him on Thursday night, and when he met him he again commenced abusing him. Lehart stood this until forbearance ceased to be a virtue, when he again arrested him, and brought him to the station, where the usual scene followed, Grant applying the vilest epithets to the officers, and abusing every one connected with the department. where one connected with the department. He was finally locked up, but having profited by his recent experience in the "cooler," made no disturbance after he was put inside. A SAD FATE,

Death of a Young Girl from Chloro-

Thursday night between 11 and 12 o'clock Lucy Weller, the 16-year-old daughter of Richard Weller, a teacher of languages, residing at No. 714½ Temple street, took an ounce and a half of chioroform, with suicidal intent, dying a few minutes past 12 o'clock yesterday morning. The young girl had been despondent for some months, and has frequently said that she was tired of life and wasted to die, but her parents did not pay much attention until last August, when she attempted suicide by taking laudanum while staying with the family of her brother-in-law in Pasadena. She was discovered in time, however, and by prompt measures her life was saved, but she did not give up the idea of suicide, frequently talking about it.

Owing to Mr. Weller's financial condition Lucy was compelled to go to work to assist in the support of the family, and found employment in a millinery store. This also seemed to weigh on her mind, and made her more low-spirited and despondent than ever, and she deliberately commenced making preparations for ending her life. Thinking that if she attempted to buy a large quantity of polson at any one drug store it might cause suspicion, she purchased it at different places, getting three half-nounce vials of chloroform, one at G. Laux's store, on South Main street, having provided nerself with the drug, she went to her home, and all during Thursday evening appeared to be in much better spirits than usual.

About 9:30 o'clock she bade her parents good-night and resired to her room, which she occupied with her younger sister, aged 13 years. What transpired in the room is not known, as the first intimation that Mr. Weiler had that anything was wrong was about 11:30 o'clock, when he was awakened by his younger daughter, who told him that something was the matter with her sister. She said that she had been awakened by her heavy breathing, and had tried to awaken her, but could not do so. Mr. Weiler hurriedly dressed himself, and, followed by his wife, went to the room, where Lucy was found in an unconscious

IN THE WILD WEST.

Rather a Good Joke on One of the St. Louis Boys. Rather an amusing scene in one act took place in the Nadeau dining-room last night place in the Nadeau dining-room last night at dinner. The manager of the St. Louis Browns and his wife were sitting at a table, and one of the players sat next to the manager. The manager looked around the room and his eye fell on a couple of Frenchmen with long hair who were sitting just back of him. They had just ordered a couple of pots of steaming-hot tea and the vapor that arose above their heads looked very much like tobacco smoke.

"This is truly a wild country," remarked the manager to the base-ball sharp: "just look at those two cowboys smoking cigarattes right here in a first-class dining-room. That settles it, for I'll be hanged if I'll eat in a dining-room where such things are allowed," and he and his wife (who never eat dessert and had finished the other courses) got up and walked out of the room.

A LITTLE TILT

BETWEEN THE MAYOR AND THE

The Question at Issue Being the Manner of Signing Contracts for Public School Buildings-A Message Presented and Withdrawn

The City Council held an adjourned session yesterday morning, which was enlivened by a spirited controversy between Mayor Hazard and City Attorney McFarland, both being somewhat heated.

Mayor Hazard was seated by the side of Councilman Wirsching, when President Frankenfield called the body to order, and the ball was opened by the reading of the following message from the Mayor:

To the Honorable City Council: The draft of the contracts regarding the erection of public school buildings is defective in that it directs the Mayor to affix the corporate name of the city of Los Angeles thereto, when the charter directs the Mayor to affix his signature in behalf of the city instead of the corporate name. If the contracts were executed as therein directed, I don't believe they would be valid, and the city could not limit its liability to the amount designated in the contracts under the mechanics' lien law, because of the want of a contract as required. It might result that the city would be compelled to pay much more than the contract price to save the buildings from the foreclosure of mechanics' liens, and as the amount exceeds $100,000 the utmost caution should be exercised.

I have therefore returned all these con-

Mr. McFarland endeavored to interrupt the Mayor, who turned to him and asked him to remain quiet while he was talking, and then addressing the president he said he thought it singular that he could not prevent interruption while he had the floor. The Mayor then continued with his explanation.

When he was through Mr. McFarland

The Mayor then continued with his explanation.

When he was through Mr. McFarland had his inning, and argued that the proper way to sign the contracts is to affax the corporate seal, the Mayor's signature to follow the name of the city of Los Angeles, instead of H. T. Hazard, Mayor.

There was quite a long discussion over the matter, in which several of the members participated.

Councilman Brown thought the City Attorney's plan is good enough.

Councilman Brown thought the City Attorney's plan is good enough.
Councilman Wirsening thought a common-sense view of the proposition sustained the Mayor.
Councilman Bonsail was of the opinion Councilman Bonsail was of the opinion that it was a distinction without a difference, and moved to postpone action until Monday, which prevailed.
Mayor Hazard said he will sign the contracts in any form agreed upon by the City Attorney and builders. The reason he sent the contracts back was because Mr. Woodward, attorney for the contractors, objected to the City Attorney's forms.

Mr. Woodward was sent for, and when he arrived, said that he had so stated, but after

Mr. Woodward was sent for, and when he arrived, said that he had so stated, but after sleeping upon the matter, he had concluded that the City Attorney's form is safer. The Mayor then withdrew his message, saying that as he did not wish to be an obstructionist, while he did not change his opinion, if it was satisfactory to the Council, he would

This was done by Mr. McFarland in the first instance, and they have since been changed, in many particulars, portions being cut out and new matter put in. This, the Mayor bolds, invelidates the previous contracts, and that before they can be again considered, it is necessary for the City Attorney to again formally approve the contracts and bonds as to form, and that they are, in effect, invalid. Just when the whole thing will and no one knows. One or two contracts were sent to the Mayor, in the old form, and whether the new or old form will finally be adopted is the question. At present the Mayor appears to have the best of the argument.

A RATHER PUNNY CASE BE-

Counselor Clark in the Dual Capacity of Attorney and Witness The Second Garrett Trial Nearly Finished—The Campbell Murder Case,

"Your Honor, I, as attorney in this case, object to the question put to myself as a witness, on the ground that it is put simply as an insult," said F. K. Clark, Esq., in as snappy manner, changing into a respectful demeanor when he lapsed into the witness again.

Mr. Glowner put him through a long cross-examination, to which Mr. Clark, as attorney, made constant objections, until the Court did not know which one of the boys Mr. Clark was.

Finally Mr. Clark asked Mr. Glowner if he was through with the witness, and upon an silimative answer being given left the witness stand and proceeded with his case. There were brief arguments by counsel and the Court took the case under advisement. Both gentlemen had been cited before the court upon a charge of contempt, and upon the conclusion of the case, the citation was called up. They both argued that they were right, Mr. Clark in calling the case a blackmailing one, and Mr. Glowner in firing a book at his head. The Court finally took the matter under advisement until the 30th inst., without fining either of the belligerents.

THE GARRETT CASE.

In the Garrett case, yesterday, the proseution got nearly through with their case.
During the day Mrs. Watson, Officer Conselly, Mr. Stratton and M. L. Wicks were xamined, and their testimony was not maerisily different from this given at the

which is below, to show conspiracy," as they called it, against Garrett.
While Judge Shaw is allowing the greatest latitude to the defense in their crossevaminations, still he sharply shuts them off upon irrelevant matters, and the repetitions of questions, which Mr. Williams is in the habit of firing at witnesses, when they have fully answered to the matters inquired about. The Court frequently asks questions of the witnesses, seeming determined to probe to the bottom of the case.
The defense will probably begin the introduction of evidence today.

THE CAMPBELL MUEDER CASE.

THE CAMPBELL MURDER CASE.

In Judge Cheney's court yesterday the trial of Robert Campbell, charged with the trial of Robert Campbell, charged with the murder of Hugh Boyd, came to an end late in the afternoon. During the morning some additional testimony for the defense was introduced, but nothing particularly new was elicited. The arguments were made by Mr. Hardesty for the prosecution, and J. B. Duniap and Alex Campbell, Esq., for the defense. The jury retired at 5 o'clock, and did not reach any verdict before supper.

The jury failed to render an agreement by 10 o'clock, and was locked up for the night. The jury in the former trial stood 11 for conviction and one for acquittai, but it is believed that the present jury was more divided than that at the time it was locked up for the night.

THE DAMAGE SUIT.

The $50,000 damage suit against the California Central Railroad Company by Mr. Bartlett, for injuries received over a year Bartlett, for mjuries received over a year ago by being struck by a moving engine, was on trial again yesterday before Judge Van Dyke. The case was not concluded, and went over uutil next Tuesday, on ac-count of Judge Van Dyke being called to San Bernardino to try a case.

NEW CASES. Suit was begun by George Young va. Abram V. Cragur, to recover judgment for $575, money received and not paid back. John Cushing began a suit against Ella Curry, administratrix of the estate of T. A. Curry, and John Fischer began a suit against the same defendant, the sduts being to compet the conveyance of real estate according to contract.

A suit to quiet the title to certain real estate was begun by Robert Stewart against W. D. Grady and the Wells-Fargo Express Company.

Company.

Notes.

Before Judge Cheuey yesterday, on motion of counsel for J. P. Goytino, the order setting his case for trial upon the charge of forgery, for January 6th, was ordered vacated, and the case placed upon the trial calendar te be reset.

In the suit of Mary E. Flashner vs. Dave V. Waldron, before Judge Wade, a motion for a non-suit was granted. The suit involved the title to certain real estate owned by the defendant.

Rosin Bernath, a native of Austria, was admitted to citizenship by Judge Wade.

THE CONUNDRUM

About That East Los Angeles
Fire.
The people of East Los Angeles are still considerably stirred up over the incendiary fire that occurred on Newton avenue, shortly after 12 o'clock, Thursday morning. Judge Sherman Page, the owner of the property, it is said, has offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the guilty parties, and this has had the effect of waking up all the detectives in the city, who are at work on the case, in addition to who are at work on the case, in addition to the police force, who are on their mettle, and say that they do not intend to let the matter drop until the mystery is solved. So far there is no positive evidence implicating any one, but a number of circumstances have come out that may throw some light on the matter.

On the night of the fire Mrs. Nanjoaks, the old German lady who occupies the house where the fire occurred, was robbed of $105, which was in a bureau drawer in her room.

brother, she had been sleeping for two nights previous to the fire at the residence of Mrs. Gates. On both of these occasions she had her money with her. On the night of the fire she again went to Mrs. Gates's bouse, but left her money where it was usually kept, in the bureau drawer. After the fire, on search being made, the money was found missing, though nothing else in the bureau drawer was disturbed, nor was there any occasion for any one to go near the room, as there was no fire in the immediate vicinity of it.

On this incident, the officers have built a theory, but there is not enough evidence yet to warrant an arrest. They think, however, that something will develop in a day or two. All of the stolen money was in papee, except $5.

A QUESTION OF LIGHT,

witness, on the ground that it is pet simply as an insuit," said F. K. Clark, Esq., in Justice Savage's court yesterday.

Justice King was sitting in the case of Pople and Warden vs. Mrs. Betle Clark, the defendant being sued for $140.25, alleged to be due from her for the printing of a brief in an appeal case to the Supreme Court of California.

Mr. Clark, husband of the defendant, is her attorney in the case, and claims that he is the responsible party for the bill, and not his wife. His attitude in the case makes him a material witness, and when on the witness stand he occupied the dual position of counsel and witness, a distinction which he sharply defined throughout the examination in a way that made the trial and exceedingly funny one.

The senational scene in the courtroom the day before in which Mr. Clark said that the case is simply a binckmailing one, and for which the strice supon the witness stand, during the encounter between her husband and Mr. Glower, sat very demurely with her sister and little girl during the trial, and could not summon up a ghost of a smile at the odd examination going on.

Mr. Clark as attorney, saked Mr. Clark was more when he lapsed upon a distinct agreement that he should bear which the debt was contracted by him for the printing of the brief. He is a small man, but with a head chuck full of law, and he will be somewhat be wildened through the contract of the printing of the brief, He is a small man, but with a head chuck full of law, and he will be somewhat be wildened through the contract of the printing of the brief, He is a small man, but with a head chuck full of law, and he will be somewhat be will be som

HANCOCK, WHITEHEAD, JOHN-SON AND THE N.C.B.

When the delegates to the National Grange were in Los Angeles several of the number were interviewed by a TIMES reporter as to the treatment they had received, and their impressions of Southern California. These gentlemen were very severe in their criticisms of the manager of the excursion, Hancock, and did not hesitate to say that there had been favoritism shown to that individual's personal friends, and that there was undue discrimination against the southern part of the State, complaining that much valuable time had been wasted in visiting small and unimportant villages in the Northern Citrus Belt, while no provision had been made in the programme for Los Angeles and Southern California; that they were, in fact, told that the excursion ended here, and that they must look out for hemselves. Nor was this all that was charged. It was stated that no information could be obtained about Los Angeles and Southern California; that it was impossible to even get an answer to a civil question on the train coming down, and that they were warned to be on their guard against the people of Los Angeles, who would try to make them believe that their was a great place, when it was

The Sacramento Bee of Wednesday republishes this interview, together with a statement from Messrs. Hancock and Johnson, in which they say that the assertions therein are absolutely false, and then proceed to state that while the visiting Grangers spent but nine days in all the other Congres sional districts of the State, five days were spent in the Sixth District, of which Los Angeles is the center. A letter from Mortimer Whitehead, lec turer of the National Grange, to Han-that the statements as published in THE TIMES were made by delegates and visitors to the National Grange, who of their own free will sought means of giving expression to their opinion, a well-known local Granger ming to the TIMES editorial rooms and asking that a reporter be sent with him, as several of the visiting brethren had grievances which they wished to make public. This was done, and made the trip over the State under

In regard to five days being spent in the Sixth District, while it may be true in theory, it is not in fact. The excursionists got to Los Angeles in the morning, were given an excursion during the day at the expense of the citi-zens, and the great body of them left for home the following morning, some not even coming up town from the surd report that they would be charged three went to Riverside, though quite a number made a flying trip to San Diego, the Santa Fé Railroad furnishing transportation, and individual visitors went to other places; but to no point in Southern California did the delegates or visitors go as a body, nor was any of the $10,000 appropriated by the State for the entertainment of these visitors expended in this vicinity. so far as known. The statements as given in THE TIMES were made by men wearing the badge of the Grange, stand well in the communities fro which they came, had no object in misrepresenting the facts, and were believed to be reliable, for all of which reasons they were published, and not from any "sour" feeling, as the Bee would seem to suggest, from its wholly uncalled-for and unwarranted remarks in this connection.

MORE ABOUT GRADES.

The City Engineer is, without doubt, just now, the most responsible office in the city. It rests with him to make or mar the city as no other official can. If ever a city was cursed with incompetent or unreliable engineering work in the past, Los Angeles is that city. Her grades are a crying disgrace to those who established them. They are sometimes absurd in the extreme, and how they became established will never cease to be a mystery. The Engineer in charge at the time is primarily responsible, for he was presumed to be the skillful officer. It is clear that if he was directed by the City Council, or other authority, to fix an improper grade for a street, he should have refused his assent and declined to act. He could have taken the ground that he was elected to benefit and not to in flict a curse upon the city. He could easily have protected himself and the publicat the same time, had he been so disposed. But the work that is visible on some of the streets is proof patent that the Engineer ontion, and went off under the of the past was not always raship of Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, are so disposed. There are quite too many and digging it out of the valleys in The idea most common in works of ted to politics, after all. It would this sort of cutting and filling and combut very little practice for them pensating one with the other, hardly finds an illustration in the former engineering operations in this city.

That principle is more observed in works now in progress, but it is wholly wanting in earlier public works. The very great difficulty of changing the thing altogether scientific and lovely remains to be seen. The whole thing begins to look like a Councilmanic juggle.

The very great difficulty of changing the grade of a street when it is once established and improved, as illustrated in the Temple-street case, should admonish the responsible parties of the necessity of declaring the correct grade at the start and adhering to it. The office of Engineer, being one of skill, he cannot afford to follow the wishes and suggestions of Tom, Dick or Harry in carrying on his work. He is supposed to be a man of learning in his profession, and as such should act upon his own judgment.

Judge Owens issued a warrant for Walters's arrest, and an officer started out to look him up. He went to a number of his haunts, but failed to find him, and returned to the station, where Walters put in an appearance about 4:30 o'clock, saying that he had been told that the officers were looking for him, and he wished to give himself up. Walters insists that there is nothing in the case, and says that he will have no trouble in clearing himself of the charge. He formerly lived on a small ranch on the outskirts of the city, and is the man who volunteered to take charge of the infant found on Fort street by Officer Bevins several months ago, and whose wife was afterward arrested for crueity to the child, which was taken charge of by its mother.

Ruling Involving the Famou A Ruling Involving the Famous Maxwell Grant.

Kansas City, Dec. 20.—[By the Associated Press.] By sustaining a demurer Judge Brewer, of the United States Cours, today decided a point involving the main issues of the famous Beales land grant case, which involves 60,000,000 acros of land in Colorado, New Mexico and Texas. The title of the case pending is: "The Interstate Company against the Maxwell Land Grant Company," also "The Maxwell Land Grant Company against Vincente Paeteca and Company," also "The Maxwell Land Grant Company against Vincente Pseteca and others." The decision is favorable to Maxwell, in that the interest to the Interstate Land Company is void for the reason that the concessions made by Mexico were never completed. Beales had no title to any isnd except what was set off to him by the Mexican government as an expressurio. Judge Brewer holds that the Mexican government limited the quantity of land to be field by one person to 11 leagues square; that in Beales's grant there was a stipulation that 200 families should occupy it, which the Interstate Land Company claims to have a right to grant by accession.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON (D. C.), Dec. 20.—[By the Associated Press.] Senate.—Mr. Edmunds, in presenting a petition for extension of in presenting a petition for extension of time for making pension applications, re-marked that it was evidently one of the printed petitions sent around by persons engaged in getting them up. If genuine, as he presumed it was, it was deserving of such consideration as it was entitled to. Several communications were presented. The President transmitted one from the Secretary of the Interior, with the draft of secretary of the Interior, with the draft of bill for the reduction of the Round Valley, tiedlan Reservation in California, and in-riting early and careful consideration of Congress on the subject. Referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs. Among the bills introduced and referred to committees were:

By Mr. Cullom: Providing for a limited postal telegraph service.

By Mr. Reagan: For the free coinage of continuous contin ment of United States national bank notes of small denominations.

Mr. Morgan called up the joint resolution recognizing the United States of Brazil as a free, independent and sovereign state, and spoke at length on the subject. Mr. Morgan declared that the attitude of the United States in respect to all countries in the western hemisphere was a very distinct one. He coincided in the declaration of Thomas Jefterson that it was the business and duty of the United States to make progress and ultimately to make the western hemisphere the home of republican institutions, and not the home of despotic institutions, if the empire were ever reëstablished, it would be so against the Monroe doctrine, and in spite of it. There was no reason why Congress should withhold its hand in coming to the declaration proposed, and placing it on the statute books, letting the world know that Brazil had friends who are ready to stand by the principles of their government.

Mr. Sherman said the recent movement the world know that Brazil had friends who are ready to stand by the principles of their government.

Mr. Sherman said the recent movement in Brazil was a great event, one of the greatest events in modern times. But a question of grave importance agose, and that question was whether the time had come for Congress to undertake to recognize this new power among the powers of the world. While he believed a republic ought to take the place of the empire in Brazil, yet evidently there was a lingering feeling of respect due, he said, to one of the most distinguished men of the century, who, though an Emperor, has been always willing to yield to the will of his subjects, and an Emperor who had never done an unkind net. Congress ought to wait until the several states or provinces of Brazil have expressed their recognition of the change of government. It seemed to him that until them the Senate ought to look on silently, with the hope, however, that the new government would take its place proudly among the nations of the world. He hoped, therefore, that the resolution would be referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. Evarts advocated the referring of the resolution.

Mr. Ingalis remarked that this was a bad-solution.

Mr. Ingails remarked that this was a bad me for kings. France was Republican be tendency of Republicanism in Gofany was unmistable, and there wight con put to be award. That did not look very like the assumption of the constitutional power of a free government, with the consent of the governeed. Therefore, until the Senate had an affirmative and voluntary declaration through peacefully constituted authorities of Brazil (after they had met in convention by delegates elected for that purpose) announcing their assumption of government powers, and establishing the fact by popular vote that the government had the popular support of the people, and communicating to the Senate a copy of their constitution, with the names of the rulers whom they had elected, he was opposed to any recognition of that government. He, therefore, hoped the resolution would be referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. McPherson expressed the opinion lations.

Mr. McPherson expressed the opinion that the delay of a single hour in passing the joint resolution would be disgraceful to the Government, to the Senate and to the people of the United States. To whit now was simply to court a restoration of the empire in Brazil.

was simply to court a restoration of the empire in Brazil.

Mr. Sherman made some further remarks deprecating the introduction of politics and religion into the discussion and declaring that the passage of the resolution witnout consideration by a committee would be an act of folly and madness without precedent.

Mr. Eustis said it was the peaceable feature of the revolution in Brazil that was most alarming to the monarchical governments of Europe. What surprised him was that Senators on the Republican side had forgotten the traditions of their party in reference to the recognition of free governments and republics. The resolution, he said, should be passed without reference to a committee.

Mr. Hawley sustained the motion to refer the resolution. He considered it surprising and disreputable that any one should attempt to make a question of the fer the resolution. He considered it surprising and disreputable that any one should attempt to make a question of the matter.

Mr. Teller advocated reference of the resolution. He said: "Whenever the people of Brazil say they are for a republican government, then we are for Brazil. The day has passed when the monarchs of Europe dare to say to the people of any country on the western hemisphere that they shall not select their own rulers and their own government in their own way. Speaking for myself only, I want to say, and I would be glad to have it said by every other Senator, that if the people of Brazil are for a republican government, and if all Europe were against them, I would put every power, every energy and every dollar of the Government in the scale to see that the people of Brazil had a republican government. If that kind of declaration be made by Congress, there will be no interference on the part of Germany, Austria or any other government. There are no polities in this question. If the Senators on the other side are afraid of foreign intervention or of priestly interference in Brazil, let them say now, as I say here, that whenever the people of Brazil signify their desire for a republic they shall have it against the combined powers of the world."

Mr. Edmunds did not think it right to declare that the Congress of the United States recognized a republic which was kept up at the point of the bayonet.

Mr. Piumb said he had noticed when the first accounts of the revolution were received, that among the prime causes alleged for it were that the slave-holders objected to the emancipation of alaves, which had just been proclaimed by the Emperor; In other words, that the republic was an association of persons who objected to the freedom of those whose bodies and labor they countrolled. It did not seem to him that they had laid the proper foundation for a republic. He hoped that was not the reason for the sympathy of the Senator from Alabama (air. Morgan). It might be the people of Brazil did not. desir

Mr. Breckinridge of Kentucky presented a letter from the late Sergeant-at-Arms Leedom, requesting the House to make such order or give such directions concerning the assets now on hand as will, relieve him from further responsibility for their custody. Mr. Breckinridge then offered a resolution providing that moneys and other assets in the hands of the late Sergeant-at-Arms Holmes, to be held and disposed of by him as may be hereafter determined by proper authority. the recommendations is pretty known. The report will recor known. The report will recommend, in the first place, an outfall sewer to the sea over the Ballona route, claiming that this is now the only practicable outlet to the sea, with an internal system of sewers pretty much on the Eaton plans, the estimated cost of the whole being put at 31,000,000. Of this amount, probably two-thirds is estimated for the outfall.

A storn-water drain avistem entiraly serv-

000. Of this amount, probably two-thirds is estimated for the outfall.

A storm-water drain system, entirely separate and distinct from the sewers, will be recommended, but, as before stated, the engineers are not a unit on this proposition, some of them thinking that it would be a good thing, if the city could afford the expense, but that it is not absolutely necessary at this time.

The sewer-farm idea is practically ignored, and no attention is paid to the recommendation of the Citizens' Committee in this regard, as might have been expected, as, from a purely engineering standpoint, the idea would not be considered, an outfall sewer being the only thing that an engineer would consider from a purely professional point of view.

The total estimated cost has not been stated, but it will certainly not be less than $1,000,000, and, with the storm-drain system, may run up to $1,500,000, or a quarter of a million more than the system first proposed, and which was voted down.

Solid Prosperity Predicted.

Acreage property is in demand all along the line—in demand in every district in the valley. The commencement of work on the Utah extension may account for some of the demand, but the natural reaction after depression is also making itself felt. There is every reason to hope that the year 1890 will eclipse in San Bernardino the most prosperous of its predecessors in prosperity. SYRUP FIGS

A PALACE OF JEWELS.

A visit to the Jeweiry Store of MONTGOMERY BROS., at No. 18 North Spring street, makes one wonder that so many magnificent things are made. This house carries the finest stock in Southern California, and makes a specialty of Diamonds, Fine Watches and sout silverware. Their immense line of goods, which includes an endies availed for Holiday Novelties, embraces Damonds, Watches, Lace-bins, Earrings, Lockets and Bilver Goods, in new and exquist designs. Damonds of the first water and of race beauty are carried in stock and are set by skilled workmen to sut the taste of the wearer. The line of Watches by the best makers range in style from the timiest lady's timelece to the most elaborate and costly chronometer.

In Silver Goods, including massive Table Sets, Spoons, Knives and Forks, there is a great variety of charming conceits, among which are artistically wrought Bon-bon Boxes, Book-mark, Garters, Colognes Glove-books, Card-cases and Match-boxes, etc. The display of Silverware is an exceedingly rich one, and includes, of course, Platedware of fine quality.

Among the novelties are some handsomely designed Qu'zzing-glasses, Opera Glass Holders with self attachment, in Gold, Silver, Fearl and Oxidized Silver. Gold and Silver-headed Canes and Umbreilas of original design find a prominent place among the beautiful presentation articles of vertu.

MONTGOMERY BROS, manufacture Jeweiry of superior workmanship, and movelities in good or siver of the most intreate design or pattern are made at their factory. Their facilities in this respect are unsurpassed by those of any firm in Los Angeles. There is no need of a quaranties of any work or any goods that come from the house.

JUPITER PLUVIUS!

This storm is to be a short one; the rain reserve is giving out.

A LARGE and early hay and grain crop will be one of the rewards of patience.

Some time ago THE TIMES presented to its many prohibition readers, so that they would occasionally hear the other side, an interview with Bishop Neely of Maine, one of the most prominent churchmen in this country, and a representative of the church in the famous prohibition State. Among other things, the Bishop stated that prohibition was not practical as a measure in preventing the sale and measure in preventing the sale and use of intoxicating drinks, which happens to be the opinion of many persons all over the country. Very naturally the members of the Prohibition party refuse to believe this. The Standard, in its issue today, quotes the Maine contingent, from Mr. Blaine to Neal Dow; presents statistics and figures, while Bishop Neely, we imagine, had facts pure and simple, from his own experience, to draw from. Maine is a prohibition State, in the sense that Pasadena is a prohibition city. Wine, beer and liquor are consumed here, just as in every city in the land; they are not sold in public saloons, because the sentiment of the people is against it; but the knowing ones, or those who are known, daily break, and abet others ocnvenience to invalids, who need its warm, cheering rays, and even old Californians are inclined to grumble at the over-supply. The man or woman was arrived here two weeks ago and yelist, who was their machines, and the section of the country, and it will repay the ultra-maicontents, the very disgusted tourists, to remember that every place has its climatic vagaries, and this is not an exception, as for years nothing of the kind has been known here. Again, rainy as it has been, is not the invalid better off than she or he would have been in the East? for advices tell of some remarkable climatic capers all over the country. We are having a moist, quiet rain. In the East the blizzard is gathering strength, cutting a wide belt in the cities, with pneumonia and other troubles. Colorado reports an unusually damp and rainy season; New England the same; Vermont, in the vicinity of Burlington, has hardly seen the sun in weeks, thaws, rain and snow following in quick succession. We may assume, then, that the invalid to the vicin to the town's already long list of the country. e may assume, then, that the invalid ght have been worse in the East, and then the fine days, warm, cheer ing ones, that will come anon, will well repay the waiting. We do not stand as the apologist of Pluvius, but simply call attention to the fact that this cliare not sold in public saloons, because the sentiment of the people is against it; but the knowing ones, or those who are known, daily break, and abet others in breaking, the law. This is a well-known fact, and those who know it see in it an evidence that prohibition does not prohibit, and ask that the dispensers of the liquors be made to pay for the privilege. Bishop Neely did not come to Pasadena to discuss this question, but we venture the belief that he has good practical reasons for believing that the flow of intoxicants in Maine and elsewhere cannot be stemmed by prohibitive ordinances.

The excessive rains which we have had/so far this season have undoubtedly been a disappointment to a large number of persons who have been led to suppose that the sun shone here every day, winter and summer. The damp weather has been a serious inconvenience to invalids, who need its transported to the surface of the wheelmen are invariably out on a spin, and on summer mornings treat and offices. The Western Union telegraph boys deliver messages on the steeds with a rapidity seldom found practiced in the profession, and one of the mail-carriers makes his daily rounds on a Columbia. The bicycle is a less expensive luxury than a horse, and for individual purposes more convenient.

Every other Sunday an all-day run is participated in by as many riders as care to trun out. The crowd usually mubers from 10 to 15 and the trips always prove thoroughly enjoyable. Simple but Effective Plan for Draining Street-car Tracks. Mr. A. J. Painter yesterday showed to a representative of THE TIMES a matic disarrangement is almost unirough sketch, detailing a simple plan he had conceived for draining streetcar tracks. The idea suggested by Mr.

Painter is a new one and one of its trong points is its simplicity. The plan in brief suggests one section of rails so that the ball of the rail lies on the inside, acting as a guard for the car wheels, which run on their flanges for a short distance. The track between the rails is paved crowning.

By this arrangement the water runs unimpeded from the track into the

A. Lazzaris, living at No. 31 Sainsevain street, was arrested yesterday morning by Officer Maguire, on the complaint of a man named Pessaro, living in the same house, named Pessaro, living in the same house, en a charge of battery. Pessaro claims that Lazzaris assaulted him, beating him up severely about the face and head. This Lazzaris denies, saying that Pessaro had said something about his wife, in his hearing, and that he merely went over to his room to see what it was about. Pessaro jumped on him, and he had to defend himself. The case came up before Judge Owens yesterday afternoon, who, after hearing the testimony of the two men, continued the trial until this morning in order to get more evidence.

A Colony of Dunkards.

A colony of Dunkards will take up their quarters at Lordsburg in a few weeks. Their agents have been out here for some time negotiating for a tract of land. Yesterday they closed for a tract at Lordsburg, and the colony will be out here very soon. They are a hard-working, industrious class of people and will do their share toward improving Southern California.
